

The pet of the month is...

Mr. G

Mr. G is a five year old domestic long hair red tabby. His original owner surrendered him to the vets' office because of a urinary problem. Dr. Getson determined that he had a stone in his bladder. Mr. G underwent surgery to have the stone removed and sent in for analysis. It was determined that with the type of stone Mr. G had, he would need to be on a special diet. He was started on Science Diet K/D wet food that had water added to it to make it a slurry. Dr. Getson also started him on an anti-inflammatory product three days a week. Mr. G has urinalysis, blood work and x-rays done periodically to ensure that the stones do not return.

Mr. G lived at the clinic for a year and during his time here worked on getting healthy and bugging Socks. Mr. G also loved to interact with clients in the reception area and even rolled off of the counter on occasion because he was so happy to be around the clients. Mr. G liked seeing the dogs in the waiting room, being around Socks and watching the birds outside the window but unfortunately he did not like being around the feral cats that would come in for surgery. Dr. Getson was looking for another house cat and decided to take Mr. G home with him. Mr. G loves living with Dr. Getson, his wife and his "brother" Moose. He likes to spend time in the basement at Dr. Getson house and looking for and playing with his toy mouse.
